

Privacy Collection Notice & Referral consent

If you are referring someone other than yourself, you must have consent from that person to make the referral.

We take privacy seriously, collecting and managing personal information in line with state and federal privacy legislation.

We collect personal information from clients, potential clients, visitors to our website, and others we meet. This information may include names, addresses, contact details, demographic information, and referrals.

We use this information to provide and manage our services and may send promotional materials about our services.

We may disclose personal information to our workers, authorized representatives, external lawyers, and relevant legal entities. De-identified information may be shared with funders to ensure quality service. In some instances, we may be required by law to disclose information.

When browsing our website, navigational data is automatically collected to improve our content. Your data and information may not be secure while transmitting information across the internet.

Please inform us of any changes to your contact details to keep our records up-to-date.

We are committed to protecting your personal information from misuse or loss, and we retain documents for a minimum of seven years. Any changes to this notice will be posted on our website.
